Fancy Color Diamond appreciation revolves around beauty and rarity. The Rarity Report illustrates the market prevalence of a polished diamond. Whether a diamond is one of several hundred or is introduced to the market once a decade, rarity was, and always will be, a part of the epic story of a fancy color diamond.

Rarity Grade: Extremely Rare

A similar diamond enters the market once every 8 to 12 years.

1 In 20,000,000

only 1 in ~20,000,000 diamonds will have similar characteristics.

GEMOLOGICAL CHARACTERISTICS

Market Distribution Percentage

When light hits a polished diamond, some of the light waves are absorbed by defects in the diamond's atomic structure. The Red color sensation in diamonds is created when light passes through a highly deformed atomic structure which absorbs all the light spectrum other than purple.
